your DIY instructions

Step 1: Preparing the beads

First, take the Perlon thread, a durable and transparent material that is ideal for jewellery projects. Thread the desired beads and butterflies in your favourite colour combination over the Perlon thread. Make sure you choose a harmonious colour sequence.

Step 2: Attach the clasp

Now the crimp beads come into play. These small metal tubes help you to attach the fastener securely. Attach a crimp bead to each end of the nylon thread. Then attach the lobster clasp to one end and the ring to the other. The lobster clasp ensures that your bracelet is easy to put on and take off.

Step 3: Fixing the bracelet

Thread the thread back through the crimp beads. Adjust the length of the bracelet so that it fits comfortably around your wrist. Press the crimp beads together with flat pliers to secure the beads. Make sure that the thread is well tensioned and the crimp beads are tight so that your bracelet remains strong.

Step 4: Design creative packaging

Now it's time to get creative! Cut a piece of sturdy cardboard to serve as a display for your bracelet. Stamp the cardboard with a pattern or lettering that complements your design. Use stamp colours that match your bead design. Round off the corners of the cardboard to create a harmonious overall look.

Step 5: Present the bracelet

Cut small slits in the cardboard to present the bracelets attractively. Thread the bracelet through the slits so that it not only fits securely but is also clearly visible. A display like this will make your bracelet a real eye-catcher when you give it as a gift.
