Enchanting flower children decoration pendant: DIY-Instructions for your creative crafting fun

Selection of the faceswooden balls

The first step is to decide on a wooden ball with a painted face. They form the centerpiece of your flower child pendant. Make sure that the balls have a hole at the top and bottom so that you can easily process them further.

Preparing the satin ribbon
Cut a piece of satin ribbon to the desired length. A satin ribbon gives your pendant an elegant touch and also serves as a hanger. Now you need to glue one end of the satin ribbon into the top hole of the wooden ball using a little hot glue. Make sure that the glue sticks well so that your pendant remains stable.

Processing of material: of the flower strands
Now it's time to design the "skirt" of your flower child. Cut the flower strands to the desired length using a side cutter. A side cutter is a special tool used for cutting wire and thin materials precisely. Glue the individual strands into the bottom hole of the face ball using hot glue. You can get creative here and combine different flowers and colors.

Decorating the head
To give your flower child a lively look, you can attach additional flowers and leaves to the head. Use the hot glue again for this. Make sure to distribute the flowers evenly around the top opening to create a harmonious overall look.

Finishing the pendant
Finally, knot the other end of the satin ribbon into a loop. This will be used to hang your flower child pendant. Make sure that the knot is tight so that your pendant stays securely in place. Now you can hang it up wherever you want and enjoy your home-made work of art!
