Jewellery from cast resin

Instructions No. 2730

Difficulty: Advanced

Working time: 2 Hours

These self-made cast resin pieces of jewelery are a real eye-catcher and easy to craft with. Your creativity knows no limits. You can achieve many great results with a wide variety of colors.

Unique jewelry made of cast resin

1. First only a little casting resin is mixed and put into the mold so that the pendant later gets an even and smooth upper side. You should let this first coat dry for about 24 hours.

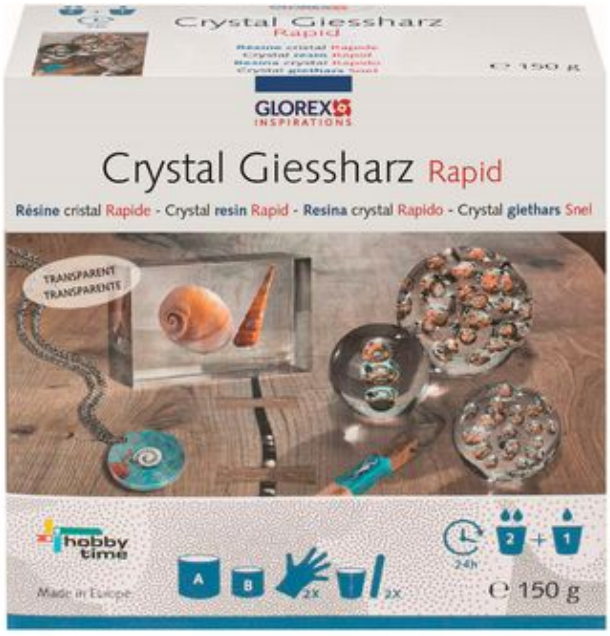

2. After the casting resin has dried, you can fill the casting mold with any material. In our example, we applied a glitter effect color (flaky glue) and distributed small beads (rocailles). You are also welcome to fill your casting mold with several layers of casting resin and different materials, which will give you a great three-dimensional effect. However, it should be noted that each layer of casting resin must dry again before the next step. You can achieve another nice visual effect by mixing cast resin with resin tinting paint.

3. Finally, another layer of casting resin is mixed and poured into the mold. This last layer gives the jewel the smooth transparent surface. It also has to dry for another 24 hours.

4. After the pendants have hardened, you can carefully remove them from the mold. Provide your piece of jewelry with a matching jewelry cord or anchor chain.
